The map illustrates the rail network connecting major cities in the Benelux region. Key features include:

- High-speed rail services: Represented by thick grey lines, connecting major hubs like Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam, and Cologne.
- Domestic InterCity services: Shown in various colors (red, orange, green, blue, purple) for different routes within the Netherlands and Belgium.
- International InterCity services: Indicated by red lines for routes to Germany and France.
- Legend: Provides symbols for station types, service frequencies (e.g., 2 trains per hour), and operational details like Saturday-only services.
- Geographical context: The map shows the borders of the Netherlands, Belgium, and France, with major cities and regional centers labeled.
- Local train services: Indicated by dashed lines and notes, showing connections to urban rail and tram networks.
